Wrecking Off From Sandy Ontario Beach for Iraq, Plane Forced Down by Wind

Undercarriage Of Machine Damaged

Adventurers Fly to Toronto and Have Repairs Made; May Try Again To-morrow

Canadian Press
Wasaga Beach, Ont., Oct. 3.—Captain James A. Molison and his wife, the former Amy Johnson, walked in their attempted take-off on a long-distance flight today, left shortly after noon in their plane, Seafarer II, for Toronto. Temporary repairs to the undercarriage had been made. The plane would be further repaired in Toronto, it was said, and the Molisons might return to Wasaga Beach to-morrow again to attempt a take-off for a Wasaga-Bagdad flight.

It was a cross-wind bearing down on the Seafarer II as the powerful bi-motored plane got its wheels off the sand. The plane was only a few feet in the air when it was blown off its feet and slipped sideways.

Roaring up the seven-mile stretch sand, the red-striped black aircraft slid a short distance into the air, skidded gently as it balanced on some visible pinion, and slipped sideways.

On the left side of the undercarriage, the plane was hit by a gust of wind, but, before it could be blown over, it was struck by a gust of wind, but, before it could be blown over, it was struck by a gust of wind.

While keenly disappointed at the failure of their attempt to get under way in the most ambitious venture of their great careers, a trip to Baghdad, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, the former Amy Johnson, told the Canadian Press they were satisfied the attempt was well worth while.

Thousands of people who had gathered to watch the Seafarer II, yesterday evening kept an all-night vigil, the beach being packed with people along the runway. The Molisons appeared at 6 a.m. and after checking over the plane for approximately an hour, they were ready to attempt the flight.

MANY HUNT RELATIVES
Havana, Oct. 3.—Search by soldiers and high winds, Havana struggled bravely to-day to restore a semblance of order after yesterday's bloodshed and rioting.

Stores and cafes were reopened, but there were few customers and most of these pedestrians who ventured forth were in search of news concerning missing friends or relatives.

Meantime, the army continued checking casualties in an effort to establish whether there were more than the reported forty-four dead and eighty-nine wounded in yesterday's fighting.

Baby Tanks in Stratford Strike Area

While the strikes of the staffs of six furniture factories totaling about 300, and the staff of a meat packing plant continue in Stratford, Ont., the baby tanks pictured above are kept in readiness at the armories in the regular soldiers sent there from London, Ont., and Toronto. So far the troops have not been called out to aid the police. Each tank carries a machine-gunner and a driver. The little windows through which the drivers look ahead are shown in the picture.

NEARLY KILLED IN THEIR BEDS

Hindu Man and Woman Barely Missed by Midnight Gunman's Bullets

A Hindu man and woman narrowly escaped being murdered in their beds early this morning at a house on the old Lansdowne airport where they live.

The police to-day are looking for the would-be killer, who fired four shots from a 32 calibre revolver into the house, just missing both the Hindus.

Meanwhile reason for the attack is unexplained but it is believed the gunman was also a Hindu, who was apparently familiar with the layout of the house.

Three shots were fired through the window of Parthasarthy's bedroom. Two passing through the pane, one of them missing the occupant of the bed by a hair.

Twenty Running in Victoria; Liberal Party Only One With Recognized Leader

Conservative Party Out in Most Remarkable Election in B.C.'s History

Compilation of the list of candidates making a bid for seats in the British Columbia Legislature shows that 173 are in the race to-day for forty-seven seats.

Many others will be nominated. Some of those who have their hats in the ring now may decide to drop out before nomination day, October 12.

In Victoria there are already twenty candidates. Four more will be nominated this evening and further nominations still expected. One hundred and sixteen candidates were nominated at the last B.C. general election.

In the most remarkable election in the history of British Columbia candidates are seeking votes under seven different policies in addition to the various appeals which independents are voicing in the campaign.

ONE HAS LEADER
Of the parties appealing to the electors only one is fighting the contest under an acknowledged leader. The Liberal Party has named T. D. Pattullo as its head and candidate, he behind him on an announced platform.

Of the other parties, the C.C.F. has still under consideration the question of a parliamentary leader. For the government party appealing as Unionists, Premier Tolmie is the nominal leader during the fight and after the fray the question of leadership will be open.

W. J. Bowser, former Conservative Premier, was leader of the Non-Partisan Movement which he launched as a movement against party politics in British Columbia. That movement has now broken up to become the Non-Partisan League.

STRIBLING DIES OF INJURIES

Boxer Who Lost Foot in Motorcycle Accident, Succumbs in Macon, Ga.

Complications Following Internal Injuries Prove Too Great for His Strength

Associated Press
Macon, Ga., Oct. 3.—William Lawrence (Young) Stribling, Georgia heavyweight, died at 6 a.m. to-day from injuries received Sunday in a motorcycle accident. The end came an hour after the fighter had lapsed into unconsciousness, following a dogged fight which his physicians said was possible only by a person of his tremendous vitality.

At his bedside were his parents, "Pa" and "Ma" Stribling, his manager and trainer, his wife, Clara, herself a patient in the hospital following the birth of their third child, born two weeks ago, and a younger brother, Herbert, a fighter in his own right.

Physicians said death was due to complications arising from internal injuries suffered when Stribling's left foot was severed and his pelvis crushed in a collision between his motorcycle and an automobile.

He was riding on highway just outside of Macon when the accident happened. (Turn to Page 13, Col. 8)

Letters received by Political Paragraphs yesterday indicated there was friction over the Esquimalt C.C.F. candidate. One writer said Norman Brown was the candidate. Another said the Council of Nine was not satisfied with him.

To-day R. G. Miller, secretary of the Local C.C.F. Council, sends a note which says Mr. Brown has the federation behind him in his fight.

DEATH CALLS STEPHEN JONES

Dean of Coast Hotelmen and Notable Success in Business Was Widely Known

Was Past Masonic Grand Master and Gizeh Temple Potentate; Many Activities

THE LATE STEPHEN JONES

Stephen Jones, proprietor of the Dominion Hotel, who had been the recognized dean of Pacific Coast hotel men from California to Alaska for a number of years, died late yesterday afternoon of a heart attack in the Jubilee Hospital.

Mr. Jones, who had been one of the most prominent Masons on the continent, was stricken a week ago following a meeting of the past grand masters of the Masonic Order here. He was taken to the hospital where he continued to sink steadily. The seriousness of his condition became apparent to his friends when doctors had to exclude visitors from his room.

For forty-three years Mr. Jones had operated the Dominion Hotel which he took over from his father, expanding it as the city grew. The successful operation of the hotel was the basis of the Jones fortune, but it was added to from the first of the century, when downtown real estate in Vancouver, which Mr. Jones had acquired when Granville Street was only a trail through stumps, became valuable. He was also one of the largest holders of real estate and individual taxpayers in Victoria.

CAME HERE AS INFANT
Mr. Jones was born in Clinton, Huron County, Ontario, in 1869, and came to Victoria three years later with his parents. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

"I believe that our democratic system of government, shown of its many abuses, is capable of adjusting differences between capital and labor and creating a standard of living for the masses of the people equal to any other nation," said Mr. Owen.

"I consider the people in a measure to blame for present conditions as they have never supported candidates of the rank and file who would be more interested in their problems than in those of the possessing classes. I am (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

ALASKA ROAD DATA SOUGHT

Big Highway Project Under Review by President Roosevelt

Los Angeles Writer to Chamber of Commerce Tells of U.S. Executive's Proposal

The huge international undertaking which would ultimately lead to a highway connecting Alaska, British Columbia, the Pacific Coast states and Mexico, is being considered by President Roosevelt, as part of his nation-wide recovery scheme, it was revealed in a letter received here this morning by the Chamber of Commerce.

The letter requested information for a speaker in Los Angeles regarding coast and Alaskan highways as it was stated that California residents were anxious to know the details of the proposed route, which is expected to greatly increase movement between Canada and United States.

After outlining the information desired, the letter stated that Governor Troy of Alaska, while in conversation with the U.S. President, had learned that he was seriously considering the possibility of a connecting link between north and south, and was making investigations along this line.

According to the letter, the President hopes by this means to establish an international trade route which is expected to greatly increase movement between Canada and United States.

While the letter gives no definite information on the proposal, its source is considered sufficiently authoritative to believe that the project is under consideration.

Ex-soldier Wounds Austrian Chancellor

Bullets Tear Left Arm and Chest of Dr. Engelbert Dollfuss When Young Man Attempts to Assassinate Him; Assailant Arrested

Associated Press
Vienna, Oct. 3.—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was slightly wounded in the left arm and left side of the chest to-day by a gunman who fired two shots at him at the entrance to the Parliament Building.

He was rushed to a hospital a few blocks distant. When he entered it was known his arm was wounded, and it was then seen by the physicians that the shot which had ripped through his coat and vest had grazed his chest.

A young ex-soldier whose political connections—Nazi or Socialist—authorities were not immediately able to learn was arrested and police began a round-up of all political suspects.

The gunman found the Chancellor at the Parliament Building, seat of the parliamentary government Dollfuss served August 3.

Dr. Dollfuss had been attending a meeting of Christian Social Party leaders in the building.

Drastic action against both Nazis and Socialists was expected as police started to hunt out all political suspects.

LEADER SURPRISED
Police said the young ex-soldier intercepted the Chancellor at the main entrance to the Parliament Building and apparently moved as if to hand him a manuscript.

When detectives halted him and took the manuscript the man stepped back a few paces, drew a pistol and fired.

Chancellor Dollfuss returned to Vienna from the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva last Friday to find politics in his capital boiling—with the Socialists opposing both the government itself and the Fascist Heimwehr, which recently pledged its allegiance to the Dollfuss patriotic front.

Fighting doggedly against Nazi attempts to bring his country into the fold, the Chancellor was applauded at Geneva when he reiterated his intention of leading the struggle to keep Austria an independent nation.

In his move ousting party politics from Austrian governmental affairs the Chancellor assumed five cabinet portfolios in a complete cabinet realignment.

COAL PRICES WATCHED

Gold Price Rises To New High Record

Quotation in London To-day Equivalent to $32.83 in Terms of Canadian Dollar

Canadian Press and Associated Press
London, Oct. 3.—The price of gold rose to-day to a new world all-time record at 134 shillings and eight pence, a "one ounce."

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—The price of bar gold in London to-day was $32.83 an ounce in terms of the Canadian dollar, based on the London price of 134 shillings eight pence and the quotation of sterling in Montreal at $4.87½. Yesterday the Canadian equivalent was $32.45.

FOUND AT NEW LOW
New York, Oct. 3.—The rise in the London price of gold to a new high at 134 shillings and eight pence an ounce was explained in foreign exchange quarters here as reflecting both a further sag in the gold equivalent of the British currency, and a continued demand for metal by European central banks, presumably for hoarding purposes.

In terms of the French gold franc, the pound sterling slipped to-day to a new low, which converted to gold dollars, was close to $3.08, compared with its old parity of $4.85.

LARGE TAX SUM HANDLED

Approximately $125,000 was paid into the city treasury yesterday on tax accounts, clerks said this morning after completing the check-up of the day's taking at a late hour yesterday evening. While it will take several days to calculate the collection to date, estimates place it at over $1,000,000.

A 1 per cent penalty became effective to-day on all unpaid current tax bills. At the start of next month another 1 per cent will be added.

LANS FAIL TO BRING LOANS

Washington, Oct. 3.—A high speed pension belt line to take passengers through the air from New York to San Antonio is one of the suggestions the United States Public Works administration has received for spending its $30,000,000. The plan was proposed by an enterprising engineer. It will not suit in the immediate future.

Among other ideas that have been submitted by persons seeking loans is the owner of a broken-down circus tent money to rehabilitate it. He had three elephants as security. SASKATOON RIOT TRIALS

Six Convictions and Four Acquittals on Charges Arising From Relief Camp Trouble

Canadian Press
Saskatoon, Sask., Oct. 3.—Six men were convicted and four acquitted by court of King's Bench yesterday in trials of single unemployed men charged with offences arising out of the clash between jobless and police at the government relief camp here May 8 last.

Louis Arthur Guay, already found not guilty of manslaughter by the jury which considered charges he had caused fatal injuries to Inspector L. J. Sampson, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, during the affray, yesterday was found not guilty of rioting and unlawful assembly counts.

Mike Dotoff and Fred Perzan, also charged with rioting and unlawful assembly, were acquitted and set free with Guay.

Three other men who appeared with Guay, Dotoff and Perzan on the rioting and unlawful assembly counts, were convicted of the lesser offence of unlawful assembly.

Following the conclusion of this trial yesterday afternoon, the court continued with the hearing of a charge of assault on Police Chief G. M. Donaid, leveled against Roderick Gillis, John Cameron, Jack McLean, Tom O'Hara and Richard Swain.

ONE ACQUITTED
Gillis, already convicted of rioting and sentenced to one year in jail, was acquitted. The four others were found guilty. Cameron and Swain have been convicted of rioting and have received sentences of eighteen months. McLean also has been convicted of rioting and is serving a sentence of one year.

O'Hara is serving a nine-month term for unlawful assembly.

The six men convicted yesterday were listed to come up for sentence to-day.

At the opening of the criminal assizes here, September 12, twenty-seven men faced the court, all charged with assault and unlawful assembly. Eleven have been found guilty of rioting and an equal number of unlawful assembly. Four men have been acquitted, and charged against one withdrawn.

Ten of the twenty-seven faced assault charges, seven of these have been disposed of.

To-day probably will see the end of the "riot trials" with the hearing of assault charges against Sutton, Jarbeau and Furlong.

MARKETING ACT PLANS DEBATED

Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association Interested in B.C. Proposal

Canadian Press
Kentville, N.S., Oct. 3.—Officials of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association yesterday evening said they did not receive a proposal from British Columbia regarding a working agreement among apple growers of all parts of Canada.

Col. C. A. Goode, secretary of the Nova Scotia Association, said he interpreted reports from the Pacific Coast province as suggesting the drafting of a Canadian Marketing Act.

He said the Nova Scotia association executive had passed a resolution favoring the principle of the British Marketing Act.

He said any given area that decides how any particular commodity may be marketed. Under the British Act, any group could so organize, he said.

Attempts to secure the legislation were being made by the Canadian Horticultural Council. Col. Goode said he believed the growers generally would support an act embodying the principles of the British legislation.

TIMBER RULING GIVEN BY COURT

B.C. and Prairie Provinces Called on to Make Refunds

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 3.—The obligation to refund timber dues rests with the four western provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, and not with the Dominion, under the terms of a judgment handed down here to-day by the Supreme Court of Canada.

In its judgment the court dealt with a reference made to it by the Dominion Government. It was argued at the spring sittings. The reference developed from a dispute between the Dominion and the western provinces concerning the payment of timber dues.

OLD PRACTICE
The dispute followed the return of the natural resources to the western provinces. The practice under the Dominion Lands Act had been to issue licenses or permits to homesteaded farmers who had not lived on their homesteads three years and who had not "proved up" nor been granted their homestead patents, to cut timber on their lands for sale in a commercial way. For timber so cut and sold the farmer was required to pay dues at certain prescribed rates.

If the homesteader subsequently "proved up" his homestead and was granted his patent, he became entitled to a refund of all such timber dues paid in to the Dominion Government.

After transfer of the natural resources to the western provinces in 1929 and 1930, homesteaders began to apply for refunds of timber dues paid in. The question then arose whether the Dominion or the provinces were liable to refund dues so paid in to the Dominion Government.

TWO QUESTIONS
The Dominion referred two questions to the Supreme Court for decision. In the first place the court was asked to say whether or not the obligation rested with the provinces or the Dominion to refund the dues. Secondly, if the obligation rested with the Dominion, was the Dominion entitled to be recouped by the provinces to the amount of the dues refunded?

The court answered the first question by saying "the said obligation is an obligation of the respective provinces."

With respect to the second question, the judgment was as follows: "In view of the answer to the first question, these questions do not arise, but, if our view had been that the provinces were not under a direct obligation to refund, we should have considered that the Dominion, on refunding such dues, would be entitled to recoupment from the province concerned."

BRITISH-FINNISH TRADE AGREEMENT

Canadian Trade
London, Oct. 3.—Important mutual concessions are contained in the new trade agreement between the United Kingdom and Finland, latest of a series of new trade agreements negotiated by the United Kingdom, and made public this evening.

Finland agree to buy 75 per cent of her total coal requirements from Britain and to make substantial reductions in various tariffs.

In turn the United Kingdom agrees not to make any increase in the existing 10 per cent duty on Finnish birchwood and plywood. Finnish newspaper, wooden pit props and wood pulp, important Finnish exports, will enjoy the same treatment as those products from Sweden.

On agricultural products, the United Kingdom guarantees to grant Finland an equitable share in any quota limit that may be imposed on imports.

MUNICIPALITY IS NOT RESPONSIBLE
Calgary, Oct. 3.—The Alberta Court of Appeal ruled yesterday the fact a road is dangerous does not imply the municipality maintaining the road is negligent in dismissing the appeal of E. K. Elton and his father, D. H. Elton, against dismissal of their damages action against the municipal district of Sugar City, Alta.

The junior Elton sued for damages for injuries received when an automobile driven by David Llewellyn, crashed over a bridge in October, 1932. Chief Justice W. C. Simmons dismissed the action in June.

NRA CENSUS TAKEN IN U.S.

Employing Establishments Canvassed to Learn Number Returned to Work

Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 3.—A census of all employing establishments in the United States to determine how many men have been returned to work by the NRA and how much payroll have been increased was under way to-day. The government hopes the answer may be obtained within three weeks.

Other new steps taken to forward industrial peace and hasten recovery include:

The Labor Board is pressing forward conciliation efforts in numerous troubled centers.

Attorney-General Homer Cummings has requested federal prosecutors to withhold legal action against the Industrial Law violators so conciliation agencies might exhaust their efforts before invoking punitive measures.

COAL DISCUSSION
New York, Oct. 3.—In a new move that may hold the key to peace in the western Pennsylvania soft coal walk-out, 30,000 of 75,000 striking miners met to-day to consider Hugh S. Johnson's plea they resume work.

The future of a "sympathy" strike of 15,000 steel workers and a proposed walk-out of rivermen may rest on the mine meeting, at Seabright, Pa.

Difficulties over the Code brought walk-outs of miners in West Virginia, Ill., Indiana and Ohio.

GRAPE PICKERS' IDLE
In California, vigilante action was reported under way to combat a strike of grape pickers demanding higher wages.

Two thousand are still on strike at the Ford Motor Company plant in Edgewater, N.J., where three pickets were arrested for stone throwing.

Strikes and picketing continued in Detroit as a result of quarrels over automobile plant wages, with allied strikes in Pontiac and Flint, Mich.

Some 17,000 truck drivers yesterday walked out and picketed New York bakeries in a move to get reduced hours without a pay cut.

MANCHUKUO IS AS EGYPT WAS

Canadian Press
Calgary, Oct. 3.—Without disputing the rights or wrongs of the Japanese action in Manchuria, the western world is setting up a stable government in a country with a population of 100,000,000.

Col. Kincaid Smith of London, former Member of Parliament for the constituency of Warwick, in an interview here yesterday.

"The government of Manchukuo is similar to that which existed in Egypt in pre-war days, when every Egyptian department had British advisers," Col. Smith said.

"The government of Manchukuo has in every department its Japanese adviser, with the commander-in-chief of the Japanese army occupying a similar position to that Lord Cromer occupied in Egypt."

"The South Manchurian Railway from Korea and Port Arthur to Mukden has been modelled on Canadian lines, with its rolling stock, maintenance lines and hotels," the former British M.P. said.

Fascists Stated Growing In Britain

Canadian Press
Calgary, Oct. 3.—Within three or four years, at the present rate of development, England would have a Fascist Party that would be a power to be reckoned with, Herbert H. Greenfield yesterday evening told the young men's section of the Calgary Board of Trade.

Mr. Greenfield was formerly Agent-General for Alberta in Great Britain.

Unemployment and economic pressure were driving England's youth to the ranks of the Communist and the Fascist parties, Mr. Greenfield declared. The younger generation was giving profound study to conditions in Germany, and new movements were springing up.

Nanking, Oct. 3.—The official Central News Agency yesterday circulated a report that 400,000 people had been stricken with malaria in the region of Pingliang, in west Kiangsi province. The reports said 50,000 had died.

GERMAN CHALLENGE BEFORE THE LEAGUE

Spokesman Sets Forth Tenthons' Views on Jews and Other Minorities

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Geneva, Oct. 3.—The new Germany to-day threw a challenge to the League of Nations.

Arguing the problem of the Jews in Germany was not properly one coming within the terms of the Minorities Treaties, she challenged the old conceptions of minority rights, and even the old conceptions of nationality.

A nation, as Dr. von Kellner, Germany's permanent representative to the League, pictured it before political Commission, was not limited by national frontiers. Its ethnic members belonged to an organic community which was not merely the mechanical total of individuals. Their rights as members of an ethnic group should be recognized.

And this ethnic group had a natural and moral right to regard itself as forming an intellectual and cultural unit with all its members, even though they were divided by national frontiers from the fatherland, he said.

Germany, continued Dr. von Kellner, always was ready to recognize the rights of minorities. But while ready to recognize the cultural characteristics of other races, Germany stood against assimilation. She did not recognize Germanization and equally would stand against any attempt to de-Germanize her from whatever source the attempt might come.

Dr. Von Kellner pressed the Jewish problem in Germany was not one of religion, but of race. "The Jews in Germany," he said, "neither are a linguistic nor a national minority. They have never felt themselves such and have never claimed to be treated as such."

"The practice of the Jewish religion is quite free in Germany. The religious source bears no part in the conflict with the German people."

IN UPPER SILEZIA
The challenge was immediately accepted. Senator Berenger of France put the pointed question whether in Upper Silesia Germany had or had not the right to enforce her laws.

As the League of Nations respected the rights of minorities without regard to race or religion, whether the German general law in regard to the Jews did not conflict with these engagements.

The Frenchman saw it, the German position was in absolute opposition to the fundamental principle of minority rights as recognized by the League.

Ancient Babylonians began their day at sunrise, the Jews and Greeks at sunset, but the Egyptians and Romans began it at midnight as most modern people do.

One purseful of opportunities . . .

THE opportunities, to which we refer, are the daily bargains to be found in every shopping area. Some people find them quite by chance . . . stumble over them blindly . . . and acquire them with astonishment. Others never seem to be in the right store at the right time. If there's a 25% marked-down sale of shoes at Smith's, they are buying at Brown & Co. . . . If a grocer three blocks away is clearing out his canned goods at half-price, they are at the corner store making routine purchases.

But—there are some people who always find these opportunities. Their money buys them more—and better—merchandise than their neighbors'. Why? Not through good luck, you may be sure; but simply because these people read the advertisements in their daily newspapers.

This advertising is NEWS. It tells WHAT. . . . It shows WHERE. Those who read it every day are informed. They save themselves time, trouble, and DOLLARS. . . . And their homes are always up-to-date, their clothes stylish . . . their meals, fresh with seasonal variety . . . all through the opportunities that advertising gives them.

THE TARIFF BOARD DEAL

It was generally supposed when the new Canadian Tariff Board was established that it would have practically no jurisdiction beyond listening to arguments and passing the information on to the government. This has now been made perfectly clear. At its first public sitting, its chairman, former Judge Sedgewick, ruled that the board had no jurisdiction over arbitrary valuations, currency dumping duties, or other special tariffs of any kind. It is required to concern itself solely with the basic rates of duty as enacted by Parliament. It will act strictly under the Tariff Board Act and have nothing to do with the Customs Act. In other words it will be a wholly ineffective body and will cost the taxpayers of the country $35,000 a year in salaries alone.

The board has just started upon its first "case." It is hearing an appeal from representatives of the British woolen textile industry for a lower rate of duty on their products so that they will be able to do more business with Canada. One of the Old Country representatives explained to the board that our system of revaluing importations for duty purposes was one of the obstacles to the smooth operation of the trade agreements entered into at the Ottawa conference last year.

It was when a representative of Canadian importers asked leave to present a statement showing the extent to which arbitrary classifications, revaluation, and similar special duties shut out British imports that Chairman Sedgewick explained the limited jurisdiction conferred upon the board by the Act which created it. He amplified his statement that he and his colleagues would confine themselves to the consideration of basic duty rates by saying that the board must guard itself against becoming a medium of propaganda. All this means, of course, that no matter what this expensive body may suggest to the government, the government will do what it likes, issue what instructions to customs officers it likes—as it has done since it assumed office more than three years ago.

What is the use of the British delegates appearing before the board if two of the barriers against the selling of more British goods here can not be considered by the board? The Toronto Star observes, the altering of tariff rates to make them look better and sound better—to make them seem more friendly to British and empire goods—while at the same time excluding those goods as effectively as if the tariff were three times as high, is certainly not what the Ottawa conference professed to have in mind when it met.

This appeal of the British textile industry is being heard at the time Canada and Soviet Russia are fighting out the timber problem before three tariff experts in London. While Russia is naturally not represented at these sittings, her case is being argued, as far as it concerns her sales of lumber to Britain, by that section of the British Timber Trades Federation which wishes to be free to buy its lumber from any country without control or interference. The tariff experts go by the name of the import duties advisory committee. The chairman is Sir George May, the author of the "economy report" which helped to sound the death-knell of the Labor government in 1931.

Canada is putting up a stiff fight for a greater share of Britain's lumber business and this province is hoping that her pleaders will win. A point to be remembered, however, is that the consideration which may be given to Canada's case may be influenced, to some extent, at any rate, by the consideration which the Canadian government shows toward the appeal which British textile interests are making before the Tariff Board at Ottawa.

It will not be surprising, for example, if the visiting delegates remind Chairman Sedgewick and his colleagues that in the twelve months ending June, 1933, our purchases from the United Kingdom were worth $11,000,000 less than in the corresponding previous twelve months, while our sales to the United Kingdom increased in the same period by $31,000,000. We simply can not continue to increase our exports unless we do more buying—Ottawa agreement or no Ottawa agreement.

MR. STEPHEN JONES

The story of Mr. Stephen Jones, the final chapter of which came to an end yesterday afternoon, is full of interest and inspiration. It is the record of one who by the exercise of his own ability, industry and initiative became an outstanding business leader in the community, and whose circle of well-wishers encompassed a large part of the continent.

For more than forty years Mr. Jones was identified with the Dominion Hotel, which had been founded by his father, and of which he became proprietor when he had just reached manhood. The responsibilities which then devolved upon him were many and onerous, but he met them with courage, optimism and extraordinary enterprise. Within a few years he developed an establishment of imposing proportions, and one which was known all over the Pacific Coast. He furnished a striking example of what could be accomplished by the combination of confidence in his city with boundless energy, high integrity and sound judgment. He never ran away from an obstacle; he always overcame it. He never loafed at his task; he worked at it.

Mr. Jones always was a busy man, but after he had developed his business to the point which gave him spare time he devoted himself wholeheartedly to other interests. He associated himself with the service club movement, and was a member of numerous other organizations designed to promote the welfare of the community. For many years he was prominently identified with the Masonic order, and served a term as Grand Master for British Columbia. He always manifested a keen interest in public affairs and was frequently importuned to become a candidate for public office. In party politics he was a Liberal, but his political views were broad-based, tolerant and practical. He was the soul of geniality and goodwill in his personal relations, and there will be widespread regret over the termination of his useful career in the community which bears in many ways the impress of his sturdy and progressive activities as a business man and citizen. In his death Victoria has lost a zealous advocate. The sympathy which will be felt for his sorrowing family will extend far beyond the limits of our city.

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESSES

From Ottawa comes a dispatch saying that when Premier Bennett speaks in Winnipeg on October 10 he is expected to discuss national issues in more than a general way and perhaps give some hint regarding Canada's policy for economic recovery in response to those who have urged the adoption of a programme similar to the NRA in the United States.

There does not appear to be any prospect of the Prime Minister following the example of our neighbor, Nor are the conditions similar. We get an idea of his opinion of the United States experiment as far as Canada's interest in it is concerned from the following remarks which he made before the Montreal Board of Trade recently. He then said in part as follows:

This is not a self-contained country. It is not a country in which we can make experiments that are made by other countries. It is a tale for a people of ten and a half millions to think for a moment they have one hundred millions. Keeping up with the Joneses has been the curse of many people and many nations.

There is some point in the Prime Minister's argument. But it is to be hoped that if he does not propose to follow the NRA programme of the United States he will have something constructive of his own to present at the prairie capital. "Keeping up with the Joneses" and their tariffs has not been very profitable for Canada in the last three years. Mr. Bennett, however, was responsible for the "keeping up."

MUSIC AND CRIME

Under the auspices of the New York Crime Prevention Bureau, nine hundred boys and girls who had a police record were treated recently to a concert of classical selections to test the efficacy of music, as well as athletics, as a deterrent to juvenile tendencies toward crime. The experiment and the observation permitted was an interesting one.

Greig's Peer Gynt No. 1, in the opinion of The New York Herald-Tribune, seemed most successful among the children, which is described as follows: "There was a fitful applause for the first and third parts of the suite, 'Morning' and 'Anitra's Dance.' The interest grew somewhat when Mr. Thomas, the conductor, introduced the 'Hill of the Mountain King,' young Peer Gynt was surrounded by 'witches' and that 'as the music got louder the witches came closer and closer.' The children sat up more attentively in their seats, and with the rhythmic crescendo of the wild Scandinavian melody little cries of delight and fear rang out through the auditorium. The younger children grasped each other's hands as though they could actually see a battalion of witches approaching. And then at the final crash of the cymbals the 900 boys and girls burst into spontaneous and whole-hearted applause."

The New York Sun is not so sure that the value of music as a specific, or even as a prophylactic, against crime, has been demonstrated. It admits that the soothing influence of music on a savage breast was noted of old, but the disturbing influence of music on breasts savage and civilized was noted earlier and more often. The Sun writer, for example, notes that the skill of the pipes animated more than one cow-lifting raid over the Scottish border, that Cromwell's ironides sang psalms as they charged with murderous fury into battle, that the tom-tom is said still to have influence in stirring African jungles to frenzy, while a certain Mademoiselle from Armentieres had an undoubtedly roughish effect on American doughboys.

However, the Sun admits it is hardly likely a New York boy would immediately rush out on the sidewalk and start a game of craps after listening to Beethoven's minuet. In spite of the opinion of sceptics, any experiment that in the least will direct the thought of youth along healthy channels is worth trying. In athletics they learn to play the game in the fullest sense of the term. Good music, not all classical, should inspire them to appreciate the beautiful.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BRITISH DRIVERS
The Toronto Mail and Empire

Hon. Leopold Macaulay spent six weeks in the Old Country observing the actions and habits of British drivers. "Frankly, I was amazed," he said in an address the other evening. "I have revised my opinion of Ontario drivers. I am sure that it would amaze you, as it did me, to watch the average British driver make a sharp turn or pass an intersection to see how completely he obeys directional or instructional signs or warning signals. The care and foresight that most show would make the average Ontario driver appear the veriest tyro or else a plain dave." All of which is commended to the consideration of Ontario motorists.

EDUCATION
The Edmonton Journal

Education of the individual is not a matter of hours or days but many years. Education of humanity is not a matter of years but of centuries. No sudden turning upside down of things as they are can bring about Utopia. Evolution applies as forcefully in government as it does in Nature. Communism, wiping the slate clean in Russia, finds that writing the new order of things is a slow and painful process; blots and smudges the records, whole lines must be erased and fresh starts made. Democracy, willing to learn and apply its knowledge, may well move toward a still-distant ideal with steady stride, surmounting obstacles in the path one by one.

PARTIES

A POOR FRUSTRATED elector has just written me a moving appeal. He says he always used to imagine I was a Conservative, which suited him quite well. Then, when I became a Liberal, he abandoned the faith of his fathers to follow me, but now, with an election on, and all good men coming to the aid of their parties, he doesn't know what to make of me. He doesn't know what his politics are and, without a guide, he is hopelessly at sea. It is time, he says, that I came out one way or the other and settled the election. Otherwise chaos is likely to ensue.

This is indeed sad, yet I fear I can do nothing about it. And why a man must be expected to have any politics at all has long been a puzzle to me. Parties are probably necessary in our scheme of government. They are the only known method by which democracy can articulate and a majority of the people can gain control of the state. You have to endure them like many other things in life, but you don't have to believe in them as you do in Santa Claus. Indeed, no intelligent man believes in the absolute wisdom, absolute virtue and absolute love of any party. If he follows a party it is because he believes that it is at least heading in a better direction than the other parties, though he usually knows in his heart that it is making a pretty sorry mess of things.

Blind partisanship is the kind which is sweeping the province to-day, but which will die down after the poll, is not for intelligent men. It is for people who don't think about public affairs much. It satisfies that blind instinct of all animals, which want to hunt in packs. Practical statesmen of the better sort use parties to rally support behind wise policies, but they seldom have the childlike faith in them that you will find in the lower ranks, among the ward politicians and the dear old ladies who hold afternoon teas and listen to provincial cabinet ministers in all the ecstasy of respectable ignorance. When you get into the inside of politics you will find that the fiercest criticism of any party comes from men who, on the surface, are loyal partisans, and the bloodiest battles are not between the government and the opposition, but within the party ranks.

But to keep things going, to prevent chaos, wise men consent to the artificial arrangement of parties, and accept them as a matter of expediency, just as they accept the law of gravity and the approach of old age. None of them is convenient, but what can you do about it? About such things responsible politicians have to keep quiet and maintain an outward air of serenity and virtue. But irresponsible fellows like me can think as they please and say what they like.

SYMBOL

AN EXQUISITE SYMBOL of these times has lately appeared in New York, a perfect commentary on this age and civilization. This age and civilization, you will observe, are busy now with intensive preparations for a war designed to involve all peoples and directed chiefly at noncombatant women and children. The nations have started a new armament race. Alliances and agreements are being arranged. A vast system of fortifications is being completed along the boundary lines of Europe. At the same time millions of people are starving in the nations which can well afford the luxury of military suicide. Six million children who entered the schools of the United States this autumn were found to be under-nourished while the government had paid out $100,000,000 to farmers to bonus them for producing less food, since there was too much on hand and was feverishly laying down more battle ships. Hatred between nations was growing to a new intensity.

Bitterness-between classes was at a new high point everywhere.

Well, in the midst of this interesting spectacle the management of the new Rockefeller Centre in New York, which is decorating its vast buildings with mural paintings to indicate the progress of mankind, suddenly had the inspiration and the courage to tell the truth about it. So it ordered Frank Brangwyn, the mural painter, when painting a picture of Christ's sermon on the Mount, to leave out the figure of Christ, as it might not be "fitting" in a business building of the present era. The management of the Rockefeller Foundation deserves the highest praise for its honesty. Its murals should represent the progress of mankind with absolute accuracy.

NO IDEA

SPEAKING OF WHICH, I saw a cartoon in a British paper to-day which sums up in one devastating glance the whole story of the present era. It showed a Modern Man, dressed in a gas helmet, a bullet-proof vest, and carrying the most modern type of machine gun. This Modern Man is saying to the Modern Scientist, a scrawny little fellow, "What do I do now?" The Modern Scientist replied: "Well, to tell you the truth I haven't the foggiest idea. And, of course, he hasn't."

Science, as a noted British economist told the British Association the other day, is running wild, not only in the military sphere but in the economic. It may, he pointed out, produce a new machine to-morrow which will make all to-day's machines obsolete, ruin countless jobs, and sweep the workers into the gutter.

maintaining population out of work. It is going ahead at breakneck speed, but with no notion of its direction, with absolutely no relation between its individual discoveries and the general welfare of the race. And apparently you can stop it long enough for the race to catch up with it.

The y of co-ordinating scientific discovery with our system of economics, of preventing too much progress from leading us to complete destruction—that is the job of a still more important branch of science, the science of politics. Abuse it as you will, it alone offers any hope of saving men from disaster before the consequences of their own achievements. The trouble is that while laboratory science is open only to wise and trained men, the higher science of politics is often given over to untrained fools. As a result, if we don't look out, all the other arts and sciences will be made useless and dangerous as a whole.

MICKY GONE

YOU JUDGE from all this that our spirits are very low out here to-day. No wonder—Mickey has gone. Yes, Mickey, the fifth dog next door in eight years, he's followed Tim and Jamie and Nipper and the others. Life is very hard on dogs next door, and they don't last long. However, Mickey has gone to a better place. He has been given away to some people in town who will be kind to him, but they have told the children next door that Mickey has gone to heaven. Otherwise they would insist on his return and make us all miserable.

"Yes," said the little girl from next door, "Mickey has gone right straight up to heaven. He went one night when we were asleep."

"Mickey all gone to heaven," said her brother, pointing in the general direction of Sidney.

"No," said his sister, "heaven is up there," and she pointed to the sky with a reverent look. "Mickey is happy up there. I s'pose he's what we call a little dog now."

I said I didn't know, but I bore the prospect with fortitude, since Mickey has lately (1) eaten my garden shoes, (2) strewn my lawn with finely chewed-up pieces of newspaper, (3) dug a large hole in the grass, (4) buried numerous bones in the rocky, and (5) killed a bird on the road. That is why he was given away.

"I wonder," said the little girl from next door, "will there be any other dogs up there for Mickey to play with, angel dogs, I mean? Will they have wings, too, like the other angels? Then Mickey'll be able to fly all around."

"Mickey fly," said her brother rather vaguely.

"But I hope he doesn't chase the birds or he'll sure catch them and eat them, and I guess they won't like that up there. I bet he gets into mischief, though. I bet he chews up the angels' shoes when they put them down to go swimming, eh? I bet he digs holes in the lawn, too, when they're not looking. What'll the angels do then? Spank his botty I s'pose."

"Spank botty," said her brother.

"My daddy says no more dogs for us, but we'll get one all right. Down the road is a man what is going to get a lot of little puppies just about Christmas, and he'll give me one. Besides, we still got Mickey's collar and I'll just fit one of those puppies. What's the use of a collar without a dog to go into it? Some day we'll just come home with a dog in the collar, and then what can my daddy do?"

"Mickey gone to heaven," said her brother, pointing in the direction of Victoria.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

A FANCY

The Trojan Helen, when she passed, Let this strange legacy behind: Her dust, as long as earth shall last, Is blown about the dustiest wind. And where its grain of magic falls, The golden Helen's glamour calls, And all the years between depart.

Gone Frank now, and Hector gone, Gone Achilles and the rest of his crew, Gone Paris, who was love's poor power, With Helen's magic in his hand. But here and there on earth to-day, Another Helen lives and dwells, And men go mad with love's fire, As she turns back, a little while.

The Trojan Helen is a breath Of legend in a world grown cold, Her loveliness wind-tossed in death: But still her dust is potent gold.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

October 3, 1908

(From The Times Files)

"Last evening the six-inch gun which is to be installed in the Drill Hall for the use of the Fifth Regiment, was brought in from Rod Hill. The gun is a heavy one, and on part of the way it required six horses to pull it."

"The school league played their first association football game this morning at Oak Bay, when Central School defeated South Park by a score of 3 to 0. Centrals owed their victory more to their superior weight than combination. The smaller lads excelling in that respect until tired out by their heavier opponents. For the Centrals B. Gravin, right forward, was easily the best player on the field, and was responsible for three goals. Drury on the South Park forward line, and the full backs did good work for their side."

"This morning's train took out a full passenger list of game hunters bound for points far up the line, the majority of them being booked for Duncan, this side of which place there seems to be very few birds. Several of the sportsmen who were out Thursday and returned to the city yesterday morning have left again for the woods with the intention of visiting other parts in search of sport."

Word has been received by the local office of the International Navigation Company, from their president, Joshua Green, stating that up to the present the Atlanta has not been purchased. At the same time there is a representative of the company in England trying to buy a suitable fast vessel for the Vancouver, Victoria, and Seattle route. No definite deal has, however, been made as yet.

NO DISSENTION

To the Editor:—In your political notes in to-day's issue you report that dissension exists among the Esquimalt C.C.F. over the selection of a candidate. There is no foundation whatever for this statement. C. Norman Brown was unanimously nominated by the district council and his candidature was approved by the provincial council, as I told you in my letter of October 2. CHAMPIONS KAMLOOPS

To the Editor:—Would you kindly allow me a little space to answer some of the criticisms made by your columnist in last Saturday's paper. The remarks made by him are quite uncalled for, sarcastic and incorrect. He refers to a book "A Prologue to Love," written by Martha Ostenso the scene of which is laid in and around Kamloops. He commences throwing the vitriol around by saying, "This lady spent a few days in Kamloops, gave the local literary circle a thrill from which it has never recovered." How does he know? The literary circle in Kamloops is just as bright for its writers else, and quite competent to appreciate good literature, if it is good, and deprecate poor stuff, if it is poor. I haven't read the book, and I don't know what it is about. The title sounds sticky, anyway. I am not writing a review of the book. I merely want to take him to task on some of his remarks as to Kamloops, its people and countryside.

"I will admit," he started off by saying, "I thought I knew the country." It is a cliché he does not know the country. It is on his own to say, "I who have never seen more than a hundred sheep in one place up there." I wonder if he has been out to Cherry Creek at the Heron's ranch? Again, he writes, "secret police that were not pretty many looking and usually lacking front teeth." I'd hate to tell Frank Ward of Douglas Lake, Joe Bulman at the Willows Ranch and T. D. McBride at Stump Lake that their cowboys were a mangy-looking bunch, what's H.B.W. talking about. I have a lot of cowboy friends in and around Kamloops, good, clean, upstanding citizens who would attend the dentist regularly, in spite of the fact that they sit in a saddle instead of a swivel chair.

His closing stanza reads, "only know one good-looking woman in the whole country, and she came from Victoria and has two children." I don't know who the two children have to do with the matter, but I do know that Kamloops and its countryside have just as many good looking women as Victoria. In fact Kamloops has always been known for its beautiful women and children. Like Martha Ostenso I think "H.B.W." spent a few days in Kamloops after a bilious attack. I wonder who the "H.B.W." is, but I do know that he doesn't know much about Kamloops, which happens to be my home.

ELECTION HUMOR

To the Editor:—The recent humorous remarks of the Hon. R. H. Pooley about the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, as reported in the news account of the Toimie political meeting at Saanich, September 27, tempt me to recall an incident of a good many years ago.

The Hon. S. F. Toimie then plain Dr. Toimie—veterinarian, and, at the time, lecturer for an agricultural department, addressed a farmers' committee meeting one evening, his subject being "The Horse." His remarks were of a humorous nature, and, at the end of the doctor's address, when questions were to be asked, an old farmer stood up and asked the following question:

"What would you do with a horse that was incurably balky, on whom all methods had been tried to no avail, who subtly would not work?"

Quick as a flash, the doctor's humorous answer: "Sell him to a parson," which, as might be expected, raised a laugh from the audience.

How many billy horses our Cabinet Ministers are selling to the Toimie as Premier, sold to parson B.C.?

Let us in the spirit of pure humor enumerate a few, in "terms of the turf" as it were:

1. Burden—Started as Minister of Lands, balked on the job, was transferred, and now feeds in the lush pastures of Old England, but at British Columbia's expense.

2. Sheehan—Not one of the shafts of the ministry of finance.

3. Loughheed—Plunged the Public Works Department into a ten to twelve million dollar expenditure in 1930, is now in the discard.

4. Billy Atkinson—"Bucked" out from under the "apparajo" of Agriculture, when it threatened to gall his withers.

5. Bruhn—Who "boiled his post and party," and who might in the vernacular, refer to his friend and fellow "bolter" Jones, as "Yumping Yin Yones, who yumped his yob, by yiny, but ban foxy enuff to hang on his yamp-yamp-yamp day, by Tui."

Finally "Faithful Neddie" our inimitable Harry, whose well-known proclivities for "placing his cards on the table and playing cricket," while proclaiming his staunch allegiance to the good Conservative party, from birth dear; suggest a sobriquet from Irishman's story of "A petrifried full of petrifried trees, having petrified limbs, on which sat petrified binging petrified songs to petrified,"—truly a petrified bird or petrified limb.

Dishes of Many Nations Served At Novel Dinner

Dishes of many nations comprised the novel menu served to members and friends of the congregation of Grace English Lutheran Church at an "international dinner," Saturday evening, in the schoolroom. Members of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the church were in charge.

The dinner was served cafeteria style from a series of booths bearing the names of many nations, while the attendants were attired in costumes native to each country.

From the booth of Germany and Holland, Mrs. L. Schmeitz served the dinner. From the booth of the Scandinavian kitchen, Mrs. B. Pagenberg and Mrs. K. G. Ingle served fish lada and krogg kakor. Italian spaghetti was received from Mrs. R. Pallen; salads of Finland were served by Miss Alma Luoto; Miss Esie Sans presided at the Russian booth over rusina kelli; Mrs. K. M. Miller was in charge of the Canadian kitchen; American food was received from Mrs. W. O. Newman; while tea and Swedish coffee were served by Mrs. R. Sama and Mrs. M. Toivie.

Following the dinner, Rev. Theodore A. Jensen gave a brief address on "Internationalism," stating that as familiarity of each other's customs increases between countries, international mistrust and strife will decrease. The evening was concluded with a musical programme embracing songs and musical selections from a number of countries. Swedish and English folk songs were rendered by the church choir. Miss Lovisa Jensen entertained with a piano selection by the Norwegian composer, Edvard Grieg. A vocal solo was sung by Miss Christine Schmeitz and a dramatic recitation in German was given by Fred Loeffler.

IS THE CATCH OF THE SEASON

Mothers in Eastern United States society circles have long been fixated on Alfred Guyane Vanderbilt Jr., above. He became the matrimonial "catch of the season" when, just the other day, he simultaneously attained the age of twenty-one and a $7,000,000 inheritance. His father, of the famed New York family of Vanderbilts, was drowned when the Lusitania sank.

JUNIOR W.A. TO HOLD BIG BALL

Jubilee Hospital Group to Purchase X-ray Equipment With Proceeds

To raise funds for the purchase of additional equipment for the X-ray department, the Junior Women's Auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital will stage an autumn ball, the date of which will be decided at a special meeting to be held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. The suggestion to hold the ball was made at the meeting of the Junior W.A. held at the nurses' home yesterday afternoon. Mrs. K. R. F. Denniston, the president, being in the chair.

Miss Mitchell, the nursing superintendent, welcoming the members after the holiday season, expressing the hope that the work this winter would continue to be of as great value to the hospital as it had in the past, and promised the full co-operation of the supervisors and staff in all branches of the auxiliary's work.

Mrs. H. S. Beckton, the sewing convenor, asked for more members willing to attend the sewing meetings on the third Thursday of each month. This branch of the Junior W.A.'s work is of great importance, and it is hoped that there will be an increase in the attendance. Miss Mary Martin reported that seventeen hospital visits had been paid during the past month, and three new cases added to the list. Miss Ellen Tomlin reported that the transportation committee had been busy and appealed for more volunteer drivers.

Miss Joyce Billings of the clothes committee, asked for donations of clothes of all kinds, especially underwear, as many of the patients leaving hospital are entirely without suitable garments. Anyone having such is asked to telephone Miss Billings, Empire 3193. At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served.

POOR PARENTSWriter Says Mothers Play
Bridge, While Children
Sent to Movies

Canadian Press
Baltimore, Oct. 3.—F. Scott Fitzgerald, whose novel, "This Side of Paradise," made the United States flapper-conscious, thinks the flappers of 1916-7-8—"the ones who just missed the war, but blame everything that's wrong with them on the war"—have proved incompetent parents.

"I think my contemporaries," said Fitzgerald, whose daughter is twelve, "have found their own lack of religious and moral convictions makes them poor parents."

Asked how the 1933 "flapper" compares with those of his day, Fitzgerald said: "I don't know anything about her. Right now—Zelda (Mrs. Fitzgerald) and I are more interested in the next crop of 'prom girls' than in those of to-day, or of our day. They are the kids with ex-flappers for mothers, and they are having pretty sorry treatment over most of this country. Their mothers will let them do anything just so long as it does not interfere with their own pleasures."

"Perhaps in the morning they'll give some attention to the children, but that afternoon they'll hunch themselves over a bridge table and pack the kids off to the movies where they'll get a two-hour dose of the Sins of Susie."

"No, I'm no model father, but, at least, I'm an interested one. And I hope very much that 'Scottie' (his daughter) won't do the things I thought were pretty flashy fifteen years ago."

AIM TO CURE
DEPRESSIONS

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 3.—An economic programme designed to prevent depression, built around unemployment reserves, was outlined yesterday evening by Frances Perkins, United States Secretary of Labor.

Advocated at a general session of the National Conference of Catholic Charities, the remedies, aside from jobless insurance, are: Social and industrial provisions for old age; public works or government employment planned in advance for stimulating employment and business in times of early slack in employment; free public employment exchanges on a national scale; development by industry of means for employment stabilization; and a program of genuine integration with industry, adult education.

Your Baby
and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Undoubtedly toilet training causes the average mother the most annoyance and discouragement. The attention demanded by the small baby to keep him dry and clean is graciously given. But the misdeeds of the under-child are magnified because of his mother's growing conviction that he knows better and is only trying to be naughty. Her first thought is punishment, the one sure method which inspires the child to have more frequent toilet mishaps.

SHOWS PROGRESS

"My baby is fourteen months old," says Mrs. S. B., "and I have been trying to train him since he was five months. He has been wearing little pants since his first birthday. Every once in a while he has an accident. Can I expect him to anticipate his needs? I have followed the instructions in your toilet training leaflet and have not punished him, but I am wondering whether some punishment would not help. At ten months he started bladder control and I have about two wet pants a day. Would you call this good progress?"

The average child is not dry before the eighteenth month, sometimes later. There are bound to be accidents, so accept them and make no fuss about them. If you act distressed or ashamed or angry, you merely show the child how easily these functions can upset you. Once he knows the emotion upheaval he can arouse by simply being wet or dirty, he is certain to repeat his misbehavior just to enjoy the excitement. Children are that way.

YOU'RE RESPONSIBLE

Your progress has been excellent. The child is still a baby and cannot always be expected to anticipate his needs. That ability comes with age. As for bowel training it is easier to establish because it is so largely a matter of habit. If you will jot down the hours at which these movements occur naturally each day, and see that the child goes to the toilet at those times, you will have done much to avert mishaps. You are still the person responsible for his cleanliness. You need not bound the child and make his life miserable by endeavoring to prevent accidents, but you can endeavor to anticipate his needs and praise him for his subsequent success.

Punishment has been tried from time immemorial, and is just as unsuccessful to-day as it ever was. Children are trained by being taken to the toilet at regular intervals which enable them to be clean and dry. Accept accidents as unavoidable parts of the learning process. The less emotion you display toward such training, the less chance will there be of the child's using these bad habits to annoy you.

RECREATION FOR JOBLESS PLAN

National Organizations Arranging Programme for Enforced Leisure Period

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 3.—National organizations at work in the field of recreation and leisure time activities concluded sittings of their representatives in Ottawa by agreeing on a co-ordinated co-operative effort in the next six months to provide recreational and occupational interests for hundreds of thousands of jobless Canadians.

Through the co-operation of this group, a central information and clearing-house will be made available immediately through which any group or community will be able to obtain immediate advice and assistance in respect to group or community recreational or occupational activities. Each agency will co-operate in making their special programmes and services available. The National Education Council and the Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare will undertake to provide for the operation of this information service during this period.

Educational lectures, films, and actual field service in community recreation planning will be made possible through the group co-operating agencies; but the keynote of the whole plan will be directed primarily towards stimulating self help plans among local groups themselves, with advice suggestions and leadership outlines made available by existing services.

The Women's Institutes and other groups who could not be present at the meeting have assured the project of their support and participation.

Book of Poems and Volume of Essays Shows Mastery of Padriac Colum

Mordell's New Biography of John Greenleaf Whittier Sheds New Light on Poet

Padriac Colum, contemporary Irish writer, is well-represented on this week's list of new books received by the Victoria Public Library. A book of poems entitled "Poems" is an anthology containing both old and new verse. It is to be found the realism of the modern school and the gentle, delicate works reminiscent of Keats and Shelley. A book of informal essays entitled "Half Day's Ride" by the same author, shows his mastery over prose. With lightning-like rapidity he changes the whole mood and yet the reader is not conscious of any break in the continuity.

NON-FICTION

"Frontiers," by Sir George Dunbar, is a fascinating book on the northwest frontier of India, a region of almost impenetrable forest. The author has spent many years in this district and knows the country extremely well.

"Quaker Militant," by Albert Mordell, is a life of John Greenleaf Whittier, in the thirty years which have elapsed since George Rice Carpenter's biography of Whittier, much new material concerning the poet has been revealed and made available from his researches among these sources Mr. Mordell derives a portrait of Whittier very different from the popular conception. The figure is a mild and unassuming Quaker saint and a radical agitator and champion of liberty who fought for thirty years for the abolition of slavery, and helped to found the Republican Party. He is shown as a man much attracted to women and pursued by them, especially during his later years by poetesses.

"Half Day's Ride" by Padriac Colum, is a volume of informal essays reprinted from various periodicals. Some of the essays deal with literary themes, and others with impressions of travel in Paris, New York, the West and the Pacific Islands.

"Poems," by Padriac Colum, is a volume of collected poems which brings together "Creative" and "Old Poems," as well as several new poems.

"Living Universe," by Sir Francis Younghusband, is a collection of poems based on the stupendous ideas that science has created in the last few years. Basing his ideas on modern conceptions of astronomy and evolution, the author here sets forth a mystic philosophy, attempting to show that the universe must be a living organism, governed by a cosmic mind, a mind which has not only mathematical genius, but is also artistic and loving.

"General History of Nursing," by Mrs. Lucy Seymour, is an outline of nursing history which reaches back to the "Origins" and comes down to the present. There are interesting chapters on nursing education and on public health nursing.

"Evolution of Modern Europe," by Sir John Marriott, is a book in which the author has aimed to consider only such events and facts of the past as will enable the average citizen to understand the complex problems of today. The material was originally presented as a course of lectures delivered in the winter of 1931-1932 under the auspices of the University of London.

"Insecurity," by Abraham Epstein, is a study of social insurance in the United States and abroad. It is a comprehensive volume dealing with conditions in the United States and experience in other countries, and pointing out the need of compulsory social insurance. The author's own plan is presented, and a fairly lengthy analysis by the Rev. Clarence Shedd.

"Sir William Orpen, Artist and Man," by Konody and Dark, has captured the salient features of both the man and the work. The account of William Orpen, the man, is written by Sidney Dark, whose friendship with the artist dated from the end of the war, and Mr. Konody gives an account and a criticism of his work. There are sixty-five reproductions of Orpen's paintings in the book.

"Jehol: City of Emperors" by Sven Hedin, is an extremely good book. Jehol, about 130 miles northeast of Peking, is famous in Chinese history as the summer residence of the Manchus.

emperors. One of the greatest of these emperors, Chien-lung built the majority of the beautiful monasteries, temples which curve about the walled park of the summer palace. Dr. Hedin describes the splendors of this emperor's court and two of the most famous temples, the Porcelain and the Hsinlung. A replica of the famous golden pavilion of the Porcelain temple was made under Dr. Hedin's direction for the World's Fair in Chicago.

"Letters of Mrs. Gaskell and Charles Edward Norton," edited by Jane Whitehill, is a pleasant series of letters from the dear letters given here, all of which were written after their first meeting in Italy and carried on without subsequent meetings until Mrs. Gaskell's death in 1865. A few of Norton's replies are included.

"Letters to Arthur Hugh Clough," by Matthew Arnold, contains some sixty letters written by the poet to his friend, fellow poet Clough, together with a long introductory study on the two poets by the editor, Howard Foster Lowry. With the exception of the one letter given here, all of Clough's letters to Arnold have been destroyed.

Other books added during the past week to the Victoria Public Library are: "Graphic Grammar," by Walter Jameson; "Science Today," by P. J. Smith and S. J. Dale; "Limited Companies and Their Accounts," by Ferguson and Crookshank; "England's Holy War," by I. C. Willis; "Elian Miscellany," by Charles Lamb; "Archibald Lampman," by Carl Y. Conner; "Economics and Human Behaviour," by P. S. Florence; "Great Deeds," by Neom; "Memories of Chateaux and Cloisters," by Herbert Brewer; "Basic Lettering," by W. A. Heberling; "New Japan Yearbook," by E. J. Thompson; "The Ages," by H. H. Cotterell; "Modern Lettering and Design," by A. E. Tripp; "Ross Crane Book of Home Furnishings," by Ross Crane; "Modern Magician's Handbook," by W. J. Hilliard; "Interesting Facts of the Russian Revolution," by M. I. Balout-Astakoff; "French and Medieval Furniture," by Henri Longnon and Francis Huard; "Russian Minds in Letters," by S. The W.A. to the Cowichan branch of the Canadian Legion held an enjoyable card party Friday evening. The tables were set for a social gathering. The committee are contemplating paying off the few outstanding debentures, which holders have not returned to the club.

The Duncan High School annual prize giving took place Friday evening. Principal Hodson announced that prizes for proficiency, etc., were not forthcoming as in former years, but already two have been promised and he hoped to get two more for next year.

The entrance certificates were presented to those who will be entering high school, and Ian Macdonald, president of the students' council, gave an address of welcome to the pupils.

The Stock-Wedde cup for sportsmanship was given into the custody of Eric Pitt.

Dancing to music supplied by Waldie's Orchestra took up the remainder of the evening.

SIX OUTFITS IN MINOR ICE LOOP

Detroit, Oct. 3.—One definite player deal developed to-day from the meeting of the International Professional Hockey League club officials yesterday. Al Huggins, Windsor, Bulldogs was swapped for Stewart Adams, Syracuse in a straight player deal. Both are left wingers.

With Milwaukee definitely out of the running until next year at least, the circuit this year will be composed of six teams, London, Windsor, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo and Syracuse.

THREE RECORDS ARE SHATTERED

Players in Coast League Baseball Have Great Season; Eckhardt Batting Champ

Los Angeles, Oct. 3.—Out of the Pacific Coast League baseball championship just ended came three records, another tied, one approached, and the strange case of Oscar G. Eckhardt Jr.

Eckhardt contributed one of the marks when he hit a .417 pace, ten per centage points beyond the previous figures set up by Ike Boone. Still, the big Mission outfielder received little attention from major league scouts.

Joe De Maggio of San Francisco who hit safely in sixty-one consecutive games, contributed the other batting mark. An attendance record was set up by Los Angeles and Hollywood when 24,695 crowded Wrigley Field to see a double header. The Angels went on to win the pennant.

Frank Shellenback, Hollywood's veteran spitball hurler, tied the all-time pitching mark of Spider Baum, now secretary of that club, by winning his two hundred and sixty-first game in the league recently.

Louis "Buck" Newsom, fast ball moundman for the Angels, missed by one in tying the league record of sixteen consecutive victories.

Eckhardt's record, however, even been mentioned in his league trade rumors, although his mark this season gave him the league lead for the third consecutive year.

WESTMINSTER IS FAVORED

Royal City Gridders Picked to Beat Victoria at Vancouver To-morrow Night

Winner in Final of Provincial Play-downs; Westminster Has Five-point Lead

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Canadian football enthusiasts of the mainland led their first glimpse of the two "dark horse" entries in the Big Four League when Westminster and New Westminster clash here to-morrow night.

Carrying a five-point lead into to-morrow's fixture as a result of their 6 to 1 victory at Victoria a week last Saturday, Westminster is favored to take the second game of the home-and-home series and enter the final for the provincial title.

But the Royal City team's management is none too confident of the next game, and Coach Tip Robertson announced yesterday evening he would send in his strongest line-up in an effort to keep his squad in the championship fight.

Although heavily outweighing the islanders in the line, Robertson admitted Westminster was "a tough team for anyone to beat," and bolstered by the addition of Ernie Peden, former U.B.C. star, and Joe Addison, speedy track athlete, would provide plenty of opposition for the hard-punching Royals.

Westminster's line will probably see Swanson at centre, flanked by Jacks and McQuarrie in the inside end positions. Ken McDonald and Hieckel will hold down the middle wings, with May and Bourne outside ends. McKellar will call signals.

Big Bill Henderson, plunging centre half, who scored the lone touch-down in the Victoria game, which gave the Royals the victory, will be in the backfield with Trasolini and Alvaioff and MacDonald on the flying wing.

Reg and Bob Hale, Bill McAdam, Fred Harris, J. McQuarrie, Des Briskie, Mack Hieckel and McLeod will be in strip to reinforce the Royals' squad.

The Victoria team to meet the Saints follows: De Costa; Joe Crowe and Fred Gibbons; Roy Barnes, R. Williams and I. Sweeney; H. Youson, John Watt, H. Robinson, M. Wagland and N. Morgan. Substitutes: Joe Watt, S. Mages and P. Price. Reserves: W. Rowe and T. Musgrave. Joe Bloom will manage the squad.

FREDRICKSON NAMED COACH

Former Member of Victoria Cougars Hockey Team to Handle Princeton Club

Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—Frank Fredrickson, former Winnipeg Falcon, Victoria and Boston Bruins hockey star, will guide the destinies of the Princeton University hockey team this winter, according to an announcement by T. J. Davies, supervisor of athletics at the New Jersey university yesterday.

Negotiations for the services of Fredrickson, whose name has been a by-word in hockey circles not only in Canada but Europe, have been going on for some time it was revealed, and last week the deal was closed.

Breaking into fame with the Falcons when they won the 1920 Olympic championship, Fredrickson later turned professional and was one of the leading players with Victoria in the Pacific Coast Hockey League. He also assisted the Cougars to win the Stanley Cup in 1924-25. Frank was also one of the outstanding pucksters on the Boston Bruins roster when they won the much-coveted mug in 1928-29.

Injury practically ended Frank's playing efforts, while with Pittsburgh as playing manager, and he turned his efforts to coaching. Last season he piloted Winnipeg Juniors to the Manitoba final here.

A meeting of the Macabees football team will be held on Wednesday evening at 7.15 o'clock in the Macabees Hall, Fort Street. All players are requested to attend.

Wheat Prices Edge Lower With Heavy Spurge of Selling

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—Influenced by a spurge of late-season selling, grain prices edged to lower levels on the grain exchange today. Turned downward in the last half-hour when orders from southern traders entered the pit, wheat closed with losses of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents.

October finished at 60 1/2, November at 60 1/2, December at 59 1/2, and May at 65 1/2.

* Export trade was a minus quantity and offerings were restricted to a point where traders at times vacated the pit.

SMALL DIPS IN TORONTO STOCK

Canadian Press
Toronto, Oct. 3.—Toronto Stock Exchange had a listless day with prices showing a majority of mild recessions at the close. Unsteadiness in the New York market inspired a hesitant attitude and trading was small except in Nickel, Walkers common and the leading oils.

Distillery shares had a row of light gains at different periods but they were pared down before the gong. Walkers common finished with a gain of half a point. Industrial Alcohol up 1/4. Distillers Seargeant up 1/4 and Breweries and Distillers off five cents.

In the interlisted group the close was generally lower except in Nickel which held even with the last close at $20.25.

Oil shares held their losses down to about 1/4.

FEW CHANGES IN EASTERN MINES

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Trading on the Standard Mining market worked up to a fairly heavy volume to-day without moving prices very far in either direction. The senior gold group piled up some volume in the afternoon with the big end of the trading appearing in Lake Shore, Wright-Hargreaves and Teck-Hughes. The general tone was firm at the close.

Lake Shore closed 25 cents higher at 49 1/2. Dome up 10 cents. Wright-Hargreaves up 20 cents. Teck-Hughes up 10 cents. McIntyre and Brimstone finished on the down side, off 25 cents or less. Barry Hollinger, Central Manitoba and Central Pacific closed a little.

Nickel closed unchanged around 20 1/2. Noranda was steady. Hudson Bay down 25, base metals off 4 and Sheritt-Gordon off 3.

MORE SELLING AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press
Montreal, Oct. 3.—Increased selling pressure induced a distinctly downward trend in the Stock Exchange here to-day.

Hollinger was off 25 cents at 10 1/2 and International Nickel 30 cents at 20 1/2. Bruck Silk registered a decline of 1/4 to close at 20 1/2, and Brazilian closed unchanged. Canadian Pacific was off 1/4 and National Breweries 1/2. Bank of Montreal dropped two points.

ALBERTA GAS RULES UPSET

Supreme Court of Canada
Decides for Spooners Against Conservation

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Appeal of Spooner Oil Ltd. and Arthur O. Spooner against a judgment of the Supreme Court of Alberta involving the constitutionality of the Turner Valley gas conservation act, was allowed today by the Supreme Court of Canada.

In rendering judgment, the Chief Justice declared that the "unpeached legislation" in respect of the leasehold properties of the appellants, "Respondents to the litigation were the Turner Valley Gas Conservation Board and the Attorney-General of Alberta."

The Turner Valley Gas Conservation Act set up the board, in which was vested authority to reduce gas production within the conservation area to a maximum of 200,000,000 cubic feet a day. Each well was limited so to fix a production limit based on the gas-naphtha ratio.

Three wells of the Spooner Oils were in accordance with this ratio, reduced carrying capacity from a maximum of 277,200 daily to 144,000, which, in effect, made the company's leases of little or no value.

The litigation sought to ascertain if this provincial act were ultra vires of the Alberta Legislature and if it were contrary to the provisions of the agreement under which the natural resources of Alberta were transferred to the province by the Dominion.

The effect of the judgment issued today is to assert that, since the Spooner Oils Company held its lease from the Dominion Government—granted at a date prior to the transfer of the natural resources—the conservation act is invalid so far as this company's property is concerned.

COAL MINERS BACK AT WORK

IRREGULARITY IN BOND MART

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 3.—While United States Government securities displayed signs of improvement to-day, the bond market generally muddled about irregularly. Most listed Liberty and Treasury bonds finished with gains of 1/32 to 9/32nds of a point.

Corporation issues up fractionally to a point, included some of Armour & Co., Baltimore and Ohio, International Telephone, Northern Pacific, Pacific Gas and Standard Oil of New York. Among losers of similar amounts were Bonds of American Smelting, American Telephone, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone, and Pennsylvania Railroad.

GOODYEAR TIRE ADDS TO RESERVE

Position Strengthened in Last Nine Months, States C. H. Carlisle

In a letter to shareholders accompanying dividend checks for the quarter of the current fiscal year, C. H. Carlisle, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Canada, Limited, states that in the past nine months, the company has increased its reserve for plant depreciation, its cash position and its working capital, and has considerably more than earned at the current rate dividends for the entire year.

Mr. Carlisle points out that for the quarter of the current fiscal year, the volume of sales of the Canadian tire industry has been 6.6 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of the year ago. Goodyear shows a decrease of slightly over one per cent.

An audited statement and full particulars of the year's operations will be placed before shareholders of the company following the close of the next quarter.

Mr. Carlisle stresses the fact that it is in the interests of shareholders not only to purchase Goodyear products but to further their wherever possible.

The accused man, brought here from Memphis Sunday with Kathryn, his wife, was so quoted by James H. Mathers, the lawyer he engaged to defend him against newly-filled state charges of robbery with firearms, which carry death at the maximum penalty.

Mathers said he would represent both Kelly and Albert Bates, already convicted on a federal kidnap conspiracy indictment and due to be sentenced with six others Saturday.

IS TEACHER OF SEA WAYS

Capt. Richard Pollock, Sea Veteran Himself, Now Instructs Youths

Saint John, Oct. 3.—Looking through the window of his office in the custom building, high above Saint John Harbor, Capt. Richard Pollock watches incoming ships manned and commanded by former students of his maritime navigation school.

Fifteen years ago Captain Pollock left a sanatorium out west where he had been confined for several years, and obtained the position. Since then he has instructed hundreds of young men eager to sail on the modern ships of commerce. Some students have come from distant Canadian points in order to receive instruction from the captain.

The school has two rooms, one main section where aspirants for a master's certificate pore over problems in trigonometry and astronomy, and another for the captain, a study looking room with sextants, maps and other instruments of the navigator's art.

Captain Pollock went to sea at the age of sixteen, sailing from Greenock, Scotland. Now he gives his knowledge of navigation to younger and stronger men anxious to follow the ocean trails.
